

AAA GAME OF THE WEEK

AAA PLAYOFF RECAP

MARCH 14TH 2010

Winnipeg—

In the Bantam II division the Monarchs were able complete an impressive comeback against the Sharks with a 1-0 win on Thursday night. The win was the fourth in a row for the Monarchs and erased a three game deficit they had fallen to early in the series. With the finals set the Hawks have already jumped out to an early two game lead with a 5-0 win in game one and a 6-1 victory tonight in game two. The finals will continue Tuesday March 16th at 7:45pm before moving back into the 7:15pm slot for game four on Thursday March 18th. All games are scheduled at the Maples Arena.

After a six day break to allow for competition in the 2010 Manitoba Winter Games the Bantam I final series will get back underway Monday night at Ed Golding Arena. The Monarchs still hold a two game to one lead over the Warriors but the last game to be played ended in a 3-3 tie and with strong goaltending at each end this series has the chance to go the full seven.

The City Midget Hawks were first into the finals after rolling over Eastman 6-1 and 6-0 in games three and four of their semi final series. The Monarchs joined them over the weekend with a game five victory over the Sharks. The Sharks fell down two goals in the opening period and were unable to get any pucks behind Chris Driedger in the fifth and deciding game this past Saturday. The best of five final series will be played out of the Notre Dame Arena and gets underway this Tuesday and Thursday this week. Both games are set to start at 7:30pm.

After a successful regular season and short run in the playoffs, the Winnipeg Wild were unable to get past the Eastman Selects in their semi final series. After evening things at a game a piece in game two, the Wild fell in games three and four to lose the series three games to one. The Selects now await the winner of the Pembina Valley Hawks and Southwest Cougars series that is currently tied at two.
